Collective Wage Negotiation Adopted.

VOTE IS NOT REACHED

Adjournment Prevents Taking of Time After a Three-Hour Debate

ROCKEFELLER IS FOR LABOR

Pleads for "New Spirit and Recognition as Men" for Those Who Work.

WASHINGTON. Oct. 16.—Recognition of the right of collective bargaining came to the floor of the参議院 yesterday, but a vote was delayed three hours, but a vote was impossible, as the conference had to adjourn at 5:30 o'clock under its rules. Virtual motion was given by members of the labor group that should the representatives of capital succeed in their attempt to send the resolution back to the committee of 16, the labor delegation would withdraw.

Rockefeller's Plan.

Realizing that the conference faced the likelihood of dissolution unless an agreement could be reached on the issue of collective bargaining, members of the public group directed eloquent appeals to the employers in an effort to win them over to the resolution. Leading in this direction was John D. Rockefeller, representative of one of the nation's greatest industrial organizations, who pleaded for "a new spirit" in industry with the universal recognition of the right of representation by workers, who, he added, "really sought not higher wages but recognition as men."

"When you can't be free, what interest is there, what enthusiasm can a man be expected to develop on behalf of his employer, when he is regarded as a number on a payroll, a cog in a wheel, a mere hand?" he asked.

"Who would not earnestly seek to gain recognition of his manhood and the right to be a man and treated as a human being and not as a machine?"

Others Approve.

Mr. Rockefeller, joined by H. H. Rogers, president of the manufacturer and member of the public group who spoke as "one of the largest employers of the country and the largest employer of labor in his line in the world," added:

"Adding to support given the resolution were Gavin McNamee of New England, Paul L. Weis of Cleveland, John Sherry, New York, and Frank B. and Russell of New York. All members of the public group, Judge Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the United States Steel corporation; another member of the group, was absent.

Frank Morrison, taking up the defense of the labor delegation, defined the employers with the argument that they could not derive any interest with the right of bargaining through chosen representatives, while he said he had been acknowledged by such governmental agencies as the war labor board and the railroad administration and was accepted generally in Great Britain, Germany and other countries.

Answers for Employers.

The arguments of the public and labor delegates were countered by President of the Fish and Game Association of the nation's industrial board, with a defense of the open shop and an insistence that the correct place in work out relations between employer and workers was in the individual establishment. He concluded his argument by presenting a motion that the resolution be referred back to the central committee, but adjournment time came before a vote could be taken.

Mr. Fletcher moved to recommit the resolution, a move which perhaps involves the future of the conference, will be the order of business when the delegates meet tomorrow morning.

THE LITTLE OLD HOUSE

The little old house and the little old street where lived old fashioned people who'd been here a long time. I'd like to go back there once more.

With the mother on which for her hair And the faulter old dog for me always kept. Alas for my whistle whenever he slept.

The little old house of my boyhood was plain.

It was battered and scarred by the sun and the rain.

But it still rings with laughter and song.

What I may say.

With all that life offers of comfort today.

There had made that a king would

And friends round about us and sweet sleep at night.

Is my little old room overlooking the shed.

I dreamed splendid dreams when my prayers had been said.

I gazed at the stars and I leaped for joy.

When the hills of the world I could venture to climb.

And far in the distance I thought I saw the mountains.

The house of contentment that some day would be.

Oh, little I knew of life's battles back then.

And little I guessed of the sorrows of men.

But that old-fashioned house and that old-fashioned street.

With all that I had of joy was complete.

And in vain comes the longing to go back once more.

To that old room with the mother and watch at the door.

WILSON IS CHEERED
BY VOTE IN SENATE

News Communicated to President
Soon After It Is Announced—Improvement is Continuing.

WASHINGTON. Oct. 16.—Further indication of the steady improvement in the condition of President Wilson, who today entered the fourth week of his illness, was given tonight in the statement by white house officials that the vote on the Shantung amendment in the peace treaty was imparted to him within a few minutes after the senate roll call.

The president earlier in the day, it was learned, was advised that an important vote in the senate peace treaty controversy was near. As the news did not seem to worry him, he turned to his personal physician, Dr. George Grayson, for the results of his vote in the sick room when reelected. Secretary Tumulty received the news of the vote at the white house immediately after announcement by the senate tellers and sent it to the president's room where it was given to him by his nurse, Mrs. Wilson having left his bedside for a few minutes.

In a bulletin issued at the white house at 10:15 o'clock tonight Doctor Grayson said:

"The president had a fairly satisfactory day."

The day bulletin was supported by unselfish reports throughout the afternoon, although there was no disposition to create an impression that a radical improvement could be noted for some time.

ADMIRAL KOLCHAK RESIGNS

Important Change Is Made in Office for Eastern District of Oklahoma.

U. S. DEPUTY MARSHAL JOHN MORAN RESIGNS

A. L. HULL ALSO QUIT JOB

Harry Blake Succeeds to Office at Muskogee; Successor for Tulsa
Not Yet Named.

An important change has just been made in the office of the United States marshal for the eastern district of Oklahoma. A. L. Hull, who has been chief deputy for the past two years, has resigned to take charge of the Oklahoma City office for the Indiana Truck company, and John J. Moran, who has been in charge of the Tulsa office ever since Nov. 1, has become marshal.

After resigning, he was succeeded by Fred H. Moore, chief of counsel for the defense. 12 men were excused by the court, all having declared that their prejudices would not permit them to render a "fair and impartial verdict." It was proved by that fact that the defendant was a member of the Industrial Workers of the World.

At adjournment six had been accepted by the state, leaving another half dozen in the box to be examined again.

Here They Are.

The six who have declared fairness to both the state and defense are:

M. D. Arbuckle.
W. J. Just.
J. E. Sutton.
J. W. Tracy.
T. W. Lowe.
S. Heaton.

Proceedings against the I. W. W. as an organization were admitted by the 12 men who were excused from jury service. They declared that they believed the members of the organization to be un-American.

They told the court that they had been told by the defense that the I. W. W. was engaged in outrages committed throughout the country.

After the trial, Mr. Wilson, who had been chief of police of Muskogee, and is of a temperament which will make him an ideal officer in the capacity which he now assumes.

Mr. Moran's successor in the Tulsa office has not yet been selected.

Large Crowd Attends.

Sixteen of the panel of 71 men already have failed in quirkiness for jury service and it is considered likely at least that number will be released for the same reason today.

In the event the panel has drawn a hung jury, it will be necessary to draw another, which probably would require 24 hours.

Preemptory challenges, five to each side, probably will further delay completion of the trial body.

Despite the tiresome, monotonous routine, there was another large crowd of interested spectators. Many men prominent in the business life of Tulsa are in attendance upon the trial. There were no thrills for the

Maynard Stranded in Cornfield But Will Continue in Air Race

CHICAGO. Oct. 16.—Lieut. H. W. Maynard, first to complete the initial lap in the army's transcontinental reliability air race, and first to take off on the second lap, was stranded tonight in a cornfield near Waycross, Ga., after his plane had run out of the gas tank, however, Lieut. Earl Mansmann, who won the Mac. Harry Smith took off from San Francisco today. Major Smith's machine was wrecked at Pernell, Nev., and he retired from the race.

The fliers making the return trip from Minot to the finish made many stops today. Mac. Harry Smith was held at Buffalo, N. Y., on account of bad flying weather. Captain Lowell Smith, whose machine burned at Buffalo last night, was authorized tonight to continue in another plane and will probably resume the race tomorrow.

Lieutenant Maynard had covered about 22 miles after taking off from Minot. He had been stopped at first because his engine quit, however, he later gave permission to continue. A liberty motor from the wrecked Martin bomber piloted by Capt. Roy Francis is being rushed from Tucson, Ariz., to replace Lieutenant Maynard's motor. The horses even turned out to Minot. Fourty-eight other contestants continued to wing their way across the continent. Three landed today at San Francisco, making a total of 13 to complete the westward flight.

Seventeen others are still struggling toward the Golden Gate, most of them being in the Rocky mountain region. There were no new arrivals at Minot. Six have completed the eastward flight.

Lieutenant Pearson and Deacon today in the eastward flight was Lieut. Earl Mansmann who won Mac. Harry Smith took off from San Francisco today. Major Smith's machine was wrecked at Pernell, Nev., and he retired from the race.

A special music score accompanying the picture and it will be given by the Rialto orchestra tonight.

The run of the picture will be one hour, starting promptly at 11.

Special Showing "Broken Blossoms"

Rialto Tonight.

A special showing of D. W. Griffith's new picture, "Broken Blossoms," will be given at the Rialto tonight at 11 o'clock, following the last show of the regular program.

While the showing is being given by the theater management at the special request of Mr. Griffith to about 50 prominent ladies and gentlemen of the city who are lovers of art and who have been invited by Mr. Griffith to be his guests, the Rialto management has decided to admit a general public also at $5 admission, which will be the charge during the week's run of the picture at the Rialto, starting Sunday.

"Broken Blossoms" is said by all critics to surpass anything the wizard director has ever done and created such a sensation in New York that it ran four solid months at $3.50 admission.

A special music score accompanying the picture and it will be given by the Rialto orchestra tonight.

ADMIRAL KOLCHAK

Reports from Russia tell of success on all sides against the bolchevists and the fall of Petrograd is reported imminent, if not already in the hands of the anti-reds. Admiral Kolchak is one of the plotters in the campaign against Gatchina, and his forces in Siberia have kept up a battle against great odds in battling the bolshewist regime.

As a result of that thought the allied civic committee was called together yesterday by W. C. Steger, chairman, at the office of Alf. G.
Heggen at 10 o'clock. Chief of Police Charles Eliot was called and submitted a report which showed 80 arrests for the stealing of cars, the prisoners having been turned over to the county and told the committee what in his judgment was the reason why more arrests were not made and more convictions secured.

At the conclusion of the session County Attorney Steger, who has been invited to a session later in the day. He explained that owing to congestion in his office and in the courts it had been impossible for the past two years, he has resigned to take charge of the Oklahoma City office for the Indiana Truck company, and John J.
Moran, who has been in charge of the Tulsa office under Marshal Eliot since he was made chief deputy, and he has performed the duties in a manner both satisfactory to the marshal and with the justice of the peace and later with the district clerk.

It was the sense of the meeting that the judges be asked to join the committee in a conference with the object, first, of increasing the amount of the bond in automobile cases to the point where they will not be so easily made, also that the juries be instructed to consider the value of the car in the case and whether they are really worth the money in case of forfeiture, and second, to make the bond so high in chronic cases that the alleged thief cannot make the bond at all. This action is intended to break up the system of getting out on bond and then committing another theft while in jail.

After the trial, Mr. Eliot will be able to advise all bonds made in these cases and in case of arrests, he will be able to advise whether they are really worth the money in case of forfeiture.

John Fletcher, chairman of the alleged radical committee, said that he would demand that the state make an immediate investigation of the conduct of the police in connection with the recent disturbances in the city.
